COUNCIL MEETS AS COMMITTEE TO TALK TASKS

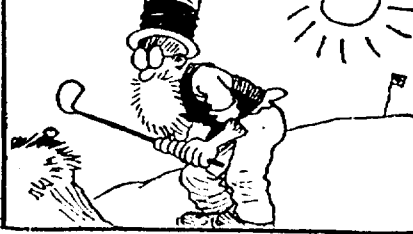

Barnes, Heading Disposal Plant Group, Calls Conference
RATES MAY BE AIRED
Sewer Extensions, Street Improvements Necessary

Council will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in a committee session to discuss many important questions now pending.
The meeting was called by Councilman T. M. Barnes, chairman of the organization's committee in charge of the disposal plant project. Barnes is chairman of the service committee, too.
He said the disposal plant would be discussed, and that improvement of streets and alleys, and extensions of sewers under a major W.P.A. project would be considered.
It is possible, Mr. Barnes said, that the light rate question "might" be discussed. The meeting is principally to act on the street improvement program and the sewerage disposal plant though, the councilman declared.
Light rate ordinances, in which 10-year contracts are sought by the Southern Ohio Electric Co., may be acted on at an early session of the city body.

TRIO, TRIED WITH DETECTIVE, SON, CONFESS GUILT

NEWARK, N. J., May 3.—(UP)—Three men pleaded guilty today to charges of participation in the kidnapping of Paul H. Wendel, Trenton attorney whose "confession" to the Lindbergh baby kidnapping delayed the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for three days.
They were Martin Schlossman, Harry Weiss and Murray Bleefeld, on trial with Ellis H. Parker, New Jersey country detective, and son, Ellis, Jr.
The move left only the Parkers defendants to the charges they kidnapped Wendel and forced from him a confession of the Lindbergh crime. The federal government charged they transported Wendel from New York to New Jersey in violation of the Lindbergh kidnapping act.
James Mercer Davis, counsel for the detective and his son, moved for a mistrial and withdrawal of the jury, but Federal Judge William Clark denied the motion.

Woman, Hubby's Target, Undaunted by Gun Wound

CINCINNATI, May 3.—(UP)—Mrs. Juanita Russell, 27, whose husband makes a living by standing 20 feet away from her and shooting cigarettes out of her mouth, is going to use a cigarette holder in their act for a few days.
Robert Russell, billed as the "lonesome cowboy," who has been shooting things out of people's mouths professionally for 14 years, finally grazed his wife's lip during a performance at an American Legion dance here.
"We're certainly not going to let a little accident like this break up our act," Mrs. Russell said today through bandaged lips.
"It Didn't Hurt"
When Russell's rifle cracked, the cigarette dropped and Mrs. Russell walked off the platform. When she returned in response to applause, her lip was bleeding.
"It didn't hurt at all," she said. "I would have gone right on with the act, but they wouldn't let me."
The bullet passed through the upper lip and chipped a tooth. She intends to have a plastic surgeon remove the scar.
"I still have the utmost confidence in my husband," she said. "Getting hit once in four years isn't so bad. I think it was my fault anyhow. I had a tooth pulled that morning and I may have been a little nervous."
The Russells have been married four years. He also shoots glass balls from a tiara on her head.

MOTION PICTURE STRIKE IS QUIET

Members of Guild May Follow Technicians Into Streets

BY UNITED PRESS
Labor controversy was concentrated on the west coast today, with chief interest centered on a strike in the $255,000,000 motion picture industry.
High and low salaried movie actors and actresses, members of the Screen Actors Guild, threatened to call a strike of their own after meeting to confer on a strike called by 11 technicians' unions. A strike of actors, however, would be postponed for at least a week, and the actors, meanwhile, were expected to walk through technicians' picket lines to go to work.
In San Francisco, guests in 16 hotels were being served by managers as a result of a strike of 1,200 bellboys, waiters, busboys, kitchen help, maids and elevator operators. There was a possibility the strike, called Saturday night, would be settled by Wednesday.
A similar hotel strike in Providence, R. I., was settled over the week-end, and 800 striking employees returned to work this morning.

OPERATION WITH RAZOR MAY LOSE MAN RIGHT LEG

AKRON, May 3.—(UP)—Physicians today hoped they would be able to save the right leg of Ivan Button, 21, who operated on himself with a razor blade.
Two weeks ago Ivan was target shooting with a friend. When he stuck his .22 caliber rifle through his belt, it discharged and the bullet entered the calf of his right leg.
To keep his parents from worrying, Ivan got a razor blade and asked his friend, Clarence Workman, to help him dig out the bullet. They succeeded.
Ivan poured a weak antiseptic on his leg. He felt sharp pains in the leg yesterday and was taken to a hospital where his condition was said to be fair.

MCCRADY WARNS PUPILS OF TRAFFIC DANGERS

Because of the danger of accidents, Police Chief William McCrady issued a warning Monday against school pupils riding on the sides of autos.
"The practice is extremely dangerous," the chief said, "and we expect to break it up before someone is hurt."

REBELS REFUSE SAFE JOURNEYS FOR SUFFERERS

5,000 Women and Children To Be Taken From Basque Country First
ARMED STEAMERS WATCH Relief Vessels to Carry Hospital Flags

LONDON, May 3.—(UP)—Evacuation of refugees from the Bilbao area of Spain will begin "almost immediately" in merchant ships under the protection of warships.
Five thousand women and children will make up the first contingent.
Merchant ships will take the refugees from the Basque coast. As soon as they reach the three mile limit they will be under the protection of British warships which have orders to fire on any Spanish nationalist warship that challenges them.
Warships to Watch
Dispatches from Paris said the joint French-British evacuation would start tomorrow, and that French and British warships would give their protection.
Nationalist authorities had protested against the warship protection and had refused bluntly to give a requested safe conduct for refugee ships. Hence the evacuation will be one in which the British and French ships have but one way to respond to any nationalist challenge—battle.
Merchant ships carrying refugees will fly hospital flags.
The British consul at Bilbao, R. C. Stevenson, will see that there is no political discrimination in selecting refugees.

JOHN R. DOWNS COUNTY JURORS HIT BY BULLET START SESSION

Monroe Township Youth Suffers Knee Injury as Gun Discharges
John R. Downs, 24, widely known Monroe township youth, was shot through the left knee Sunday morning when a .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged while he was cleaning it.
The bullet passed through Downs' knee, splintering the bone.
Dr. G. D. Sheets, of Williamsport, was called to the Downs home, where the accident happened. He brought the youth to Berger hospital where the knee was X-rayed and placed in a cast.
Downs was returned to his home after the X-ray and treatment.

Three Changes Made in Venire; 12 Persons Involved

WINDSOR TO JOIN WALLIS IN FRANCE

25 Seconds Required by British Court to Grant Absolute Order as Few Spectators Watch; Official Copy to Be Airmailed

WEEK OF MAY 24 SET FOR WEDDING

Duke to Arrive From Austria Sometime Tuesday; Newspapers Print Details

SALZBURG, Austria, May 3.—(UP)—The Duke of Windsor departed at 4:45 p. m. today for Tours to rejoin Mrs. Wallis Simpson at her chateau in France. He may go by way of Paris.

LONDON, May 3.—(UP)—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson received a decree absolute of divorce today and was free to marry the Duke of Windsor, who gave up his throne for her.

The duke—Edward VIII of England—was expected to join Mrs. Simpson tomorrow at the Chateau De Candé, at Monts, France. Their wedding was set tentatively for the week beginning May 24 in the great library of the chateau.

It took 25 seconds to put through the decree which brought to its climactic stage the romance of the century between the king who abdicated his throne for love and his American born sweetheart, who has been twice married.

An hour after the hearing, Sydney Barron, clerk of Mrs. Simpson's solicitors, Theodore Goddard and Co., left Somerset house near the law courts with the official copy of Mrs. Simpson's decree, sealed and signed by H. D. Dec. Pereira, the registrar.
The solicitors telegraphed the news to Mrs. Simpson and arranged to air mail the official copy to her.
Mrs. Simpson had obtained her preliminary decree nisi at Ipswich Oct. 27. It was necessary to wait six months for the final decree.
Last week Mrs. Simpson's lawyers made the formal application for the decree absolute.
Sir Boyd Merriman, president of the divorce court, took the bench personally today to assume direct responsibility for the award.
There were about 60 persons in the court room when Court No. 2 of the divorce division was called to session. Outside, in brilliant sunshine, workmen were draping the old gray stone law courts building with red and white streamers of bunting ready for the coronation of King George VI nine days hence. The crowds here for the festivities were interested in them alone and few even knew that in the court building the decree was being granted which left their former sovereign, their one time "prince charming," the man who left his people.

May 26 Set Duke Joyful Most Likely At News of Nuptial Day Final Decree

By MARY FENTRESS
MONTS, France, May 3.—(UP)—Mrs. Wallis Simpson, under close guard by French secret service men, received by telephone today the news that she was free to marry the Duke of Windsor and, as the Duchess of Windsor, become a member of the British royal family.
Now she awaited news that the duke who gave up a throne for her, had started from St. Wolfgang, Austria, to join her at the Chateau De Candé here to complete plans for their wedding probably during the week of May 24.
Herman L. Rogers, who with his wife is a guest at the Chateau here—they were Mrs. Simpson's host and hostess at Cannes, where she stayed after leaving London last December—said that the duke would arrive tomorrow or Wednesday.
News Telephoned
News that Sir Boyd Merriman, president of the British divorce court, had granted the decree absolute that made Mrs. Simpson free was telephoned to her from Paris.
Rogers, who relayed the news, said that Mrs. Simpson felt she could make no statement until she had been advised officially.
"No celebration is planned," he said. "Mrs. Simpson probably will play golf later today."
It has been agreed tentatively that the wedding ceremony shall be held during the week of May 24, most probably May 26, and that part of the honeymoon shall be spent at Wasseriebourg castle, land.
The duke announced that he would leave by the 4:45 p. m. (10:45 a. m. EST) train for Tours, 10 miles from the chateau.
It was believed likely that the duke would leave the train at some small station in France and motor the rest of the 600 miles to Monts. He had been studying a road map of France this morning as he waited excitedly in his study for the jangle of the telephone bell and

ASSEMBLY ENDS SESSION WITHOUT APPROVING IMPORTANT LEGISLATION.

244 MEASURES VOTED IN LONG, COSTLY MEETING

No Money Appropriated to Run State For Next Two Years

DAVEY LAWS DENIED

Act to Withhold Sales Tax Money Outstanding

COLUMBUS, May 3—(UP)—The highest-paid general assembly in the state's history wound up its 65-day session without passing any legislation of vital importance, a survey revealed today.

Significance to the State
A total of 244 bills, mostly of little importance were finally approved by both houses and possibly 100 of these would not have been enacted if the legislators had not been forced to remain in session three days past "actual adjournment" because of the tangle over the biennial appropriations bill.

From the standpoint of the administration, the session was believed to be a particularly disastrous one. Besides making legislative history by failing to enact any general appropriations bill for the operation of state government in 1937 and 1938, the 92nd general assembly completed action on only two major administration-sponsored bills.

To Face Payments
These were measures to reorganize the old pension division and withhold sales tax allocations from counties indebted to the state for maintenance of wards in state institutions.

The legislature flatly rejected the governor's proposed relief program, calling for the enactment of some state tax and a companion measure to permit subdivisions to levy local taxes.

It also rejected the administration's $10,000,000 highway construction program by refusing to increase the gasoline tax one cent a gallon.

Other administration-sought legislation which the legislators turned their backs on included proposals to:

Create a state building commission to direct all state construction work.
Reorganize the tax commission under a tax administrator with wide powers to fire and hire.
Increase the amusement admission tax from three to 10 percent.
Increase the membership of the state control board from five to seven members.
Grant department heads broad powers to fix salaries of classified service employees by striking from the appropriations bill the civil service salary schedule.
Create a division of public assistance and abolish the division of charities.
It was the defeat of this bill in the upper house that gave the first hint of the senate revolt which culminated in rejection of the appropriations bill.

Yoder, Baggott Lead
Led by Lieut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder and his brilliant young floor spokesman, Sen. Horace W. Baggott, D., Montgomery, the insurgents solidified their forces until they gained complete control of the senate.

The overwhelmingly Democratic house remained loyal to the administration but as the session wore on there was evidence of insurgency on the part of some of the representatives. The administration-favored minority report on the appropriations bill, for example, passed in the house by a majority of only four votes.

Among the more important bills passed by both houses and sent to the governor were measures to:

Decrease the period in which deficiency judgments shall become void from 21 to two years. The measure applies only to one and two family homes and farm dwellings.
Authorize subdivisions to use surplus classified intangible tax revenues for poor relief.
Permit subdivisions to refund impounded scrip over a 10-year period to make more funds available for poor relief.
Eliminate exemptions in the sales tax law on out-of-state sales granting the tax commission broader powers to eliminate "chisel" and tightening up administration of the law in general.
Extend the Best mortgage moratorium act.

To Limit Justices
Limit the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in traffic cases to their own townships instead of the whole county.

Establish a retirement system for aged and incapacitated county and municipal employees.
Authorize all state universities accepting Wilberforce to erect dormitories.
Provide for commissions to

THE OLD HOME TOWN Registered U. S. Patent Office By STANLEY

study state taxation and finance, delinquent taxes, enter into agreements with other states to flood control and anti-stream pollution and cooperate with the federal government on flood control.

License automobile dealers and salesmen and provide for a certificate of title to replace the present bill of sale.

Provide for the establishment of mental clinics and out-patient hospitals.

Increase the highway patrol force from 120 to 200 patrolmen and broaden the patrol's powers.

Establish a 45-hour week for women workers.

Require the state to contribute to the state employees' retirement system.

Recodify the state banking laws. Require hunters to wear license numbers on their backs.

Fishing Licenses
Fix a universal 50-cent fishing license.

Recodify the state conservancy laws.

Increase the salaries of county commissioners, registrar of motor vehicles, commerce director and divisional highway engineers.

Provide the death penalty for kidnapping for ransom.

Recodify the state's military laws to conform with the national defense act and provide life tenures for the adjutant general, assistant adjutant general and assistant quartermaster general.

Extend the term of township trustees from two to four years.

Grant $150,000 state aid to public libraries.

Recodify juvenile court laws.

Broaden the civil rights law to outlaw discrimination against Negroes on airplanes and in stores.

After a protracted wrangle between the two houses and the governor, the legislature quit without passing any permanent relief law despite lengthy hearings and furious debate. It did reluctantly pass several stop-gap bills.

Many Bills Fail
Other important or controversial legislation which failed of passage were bills to:

Levy a state income tax.
Establish a state milk commission to fix prices and regulate the industry.

Redistrict the state for congressional representation.

Create a state labor relations board (Little Wagner Act).

Place restrictions on courts in issuing labor injunctions.

Grant state aid to parochial and private schools by cash subsidies, free textbooks and free transportation to pupils.

Repeat the criminal syndicalism laws.

Provide for a one-house legislature.

Establish alternate forms of county government as an economy measure.

Legalize state lotteries, book-makers, dog race betting and the "numbers" game.

Ashville School Board To Hire Teachers May 11

No Vacancies Reported as Date Nears; Other Notes From Village

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

The Ashville school board will be in session on Tuesday evening, May 11, when employment of teachers for the grades will likely be up for a hearing. Up to this time it is not positively known that there are any vacancies in the grade teaching staff. The joint-board, Ashville-Harrison, will meet Monday evening, May 17. This joint board has to do with the high school.

Another Grocery
It has just leaked through this morning that we are to have another grocery, and if this be true, it will be only one short of a dozen for us.

Council to Meet
The Village council will be in session Monday night paying bills and making plans to do the work they have had in mind to do soon as the weather became suitable.

Bob Walden, our marshal-street commissioner, has done a big lot of street patching the last ten days, and there still is some to do, he says.

The people seem to be gentle and kindly disposed toward each other these days, and arrests for bad behavior are not necessary.

Fifty and more years ago as recalled by some of our older people, there seemed to be a sort of "wild and woolly" complex here, and scarcely a week passed that we did not have a "nasty something" to contend with. In discussing this condition of betterment with a friend, (old timer) the other day he said to us "that dead Indians make no trouble" meaning, we inferred, that we are to be dead to raise a rumpus. But we retain faith in the "old home town", some one will turn up one of these days who will do things that need doing.

Biblical Trees Planted

"You all" would be very greatly surprised if I dared to tell you, how many and who, have quietly slipped around to us and in the same quiet, "and not to say a word about it" way, told us about some of the chicken stealing and watermelon raids they had been on and what an awful lot of fun they had had. One well known merchant and his pals were having a roast with only three or four fowls for the feast, which had been lifted from the hen house of one well known insurance agent. The next day they were tracked down by this said agent but feathers and all had been burned in the sugar water "bilui" fire, so this Mr. Agent is not hurt a bit by the things he don't know. Yes, he'd steal a few himself, but he wasn't in on this raid.

Dwelling Rebuilt
Peck Wilson and carpenter force are rebuilding the dwelling on the Leroy Cromley farm on state route 40, west of the Scioto river. Peck says he has been busy and has enough work to keep on being the same way. And other carpenters tell the same story.

GOVERNOR GETS ADDITION BILL

Solons Approve Million For Armories and Institutions

COLUMBUS, May 3—(UP)—A bill providing $1,055,000 for additions and betterments in 1937 and 1938 was sent to the governor today after a stormy course between both houses and committees during the closing hours of the legislature.

The bill as finally approved included a $200,000 appropriation for construction and repair of armories at Kenton, Kent, Wapakoneta, Coshocton, Van Wert, Ravenna, Westerville, Lakewood and Ironton.

As originally passed by the house, the bill provided $365,000 for armories but this figure was deleted in the senate. The measure was then sent to a conference committee which restored all but $90,000 of the original armory appropriation.

The committee's recommendations were rejected by the senate, however, and a new committee was appointed which hit up the $200,000 compromise appropriation.

Other items contained in the bill as finally approved by both houses were $30,000 for the purchase of land for Kent State University to complete the campus "quadrangle"; $22,400 for Bowling Green University for classroom and laboratory equipment and $1000 for screening cottages at the Dayton State Hospital.

Retained untouched were $30,000 for construction of a water plant at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home, Xenia, and $10,000 for improvements at the Ohio State Sanatorium, Mt. Vernon.

SCOTLAND YARD TO REDUCE
LONDON, (UP)—Scotland Yard is to be reduced, but only in weight. Sir Norman Kendal, chief of the criminal investigation department, remarked about the growing obesity of the C. I. D. with the result that a program of morning setting-up exercises has been devised for more than 150 detectives.

"You all" would be very greatly surprised if I dared to tell you, how many and who, have quietly slipped around to us and in the same quiet, "and not to say a word about it" way, told us about some of the chicken stealing and watermelon raids they had been on and what an awful lot of fun they had had. One well known merchant and his pals were having a roast with only three or four fowls for the feast, which had been lifted from the hen house of one well known insurance agent. The next day they were tracked down by this said agent but feathers and all had been burned in the sugar water "bilui" fire, so this Mr. Agent is not hurt a bit by the things he don't know. Yes, he'd steal a few himself, but he wasn't in on this raid.

TUESDAY
Carlton E. Morse in Hong Kong. 11 a. m. EST, NBC.

Fritz Lechner. 2:30 p. m. EST, CBS. Concert Hall guest.

Frank Munn. 4 p. m. EST, NBC. Interviewed by Nellie Revell.

COLBERT DISTINCTIVE
Claudette Colbert, star of "Hands Across the Table" in the Radio Theatre tonight is a "stocking-foot" rehearsal. When she steps inside the studio to begin preparations for a Radio Theatre broadcast off come her shoes. The production staff first was amazed to see a beautiful screen star rehearsing in stocking feet about two years ago when Miss Colbert first did a Radio Theatre broadcast from New York.

Joan Crawford, another frequent Radio Theatre star, is a "shoe-dangler." She likes to sit at a table for rehearsal, then she lets one shoe slip off at the heel so it dangles loosely.

Among the male stars, Willy Beery usually has a pair of wide suspenders showing at rehearsal, and Joel McCrea who plays opposite Claudette Colbert in "Hands Across the Table" is a "sweater man."

FOUR CROSBY GUESTS
Mary Garden, Basil Rathbone, Connie Boswell and grand opera's newest sensation, Janice Porter, make up Bing Crosby's guest list for the Music Hall next Thursday night, May 6.

Mary Garden will be interviewed by Crosby, but she will not sing. Illness has prevented two previously scheduled appearances of Miss Garden in the broadcast over the NBC red network at 9 p. m. (EST).

Crosby discovered, entirely by accident, a few weeks ago that Basil Rathbone has few equals in reading poetry over the radio. Rathbone returns next Thursday for an interview and another fling at reading.

Connie Boswell, of the famed Boswell Sisters, will sing a few popular selections, accompanied by Jimmy Dorsey and the Swingsters. Other popular songs and one old-time favorite will be sung by Bing, accompanied by the Swingsters and the Paul Taylor Choristers.

Gay, tuneful, merry and lavish, "Champagne Waltz," co-starring Fred MacMurray and Gladys Swarthout, moved into the Cliftona Theatre yesterday and captivated the audience with its Viennese charm, its rapid-fire comedy, excellent dancing and delightful romance.

With several singing sequences by Miss Swarthout, and music both of the waltz and "swing" varieties, "Champagne Waltz" would rate as a music-lover's holiday.

DENHARDT CASE NEARING CLIMAX IN NEW CASTLE

Closing Arguments Ready in Murder Trial of Soldier-Politician

DEFENSE CITES SUICIDE

Jury Expected to Begin Deliberations Tonight

NEW CASTLE, Ky., May 3—(UP)—Trial of Brigadier General Henry H. Denhardt on a charge of murdering his sweetheart, Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, approached a climax today.

Circuit Judge Charles C. Marshall instructed the jury. Defense and prosecution made their closing arguments. By nightfall, or at court opening tomorrow, the jurors are expected to retire to decide the fate of the bald soldier-politician who once ranked with the most powerful men in the Blue Grass commonwealth.

Mrs. Taylor died Nov. 6, on a dark country lane, from a bullet from the general's revolver. The death penalty. Denhardt and his commonwealth has demanded the attorneys, denying murder, suggested suicide as the only explanation of the death of the widow who enjoyed a local reputation for beauty and vivacity.

Denhardt had fought against trial in Henry county, expressing fear that here he could not obtain justice, so great was the resentment against him. His request for change of venue denied, he has sat through a fortnight's trial. The strain of the trial is expressed in his lined face, his shuffling, and his deferent manner.

TWO APPOINTED TO JUNIOR FAIR BOARD OF OHIO

Hundreds of Ohio 4-H club members when entering and displaying their exhibits at the State Fair next fall will have to be careful that they observe all rules, as Wanetta Kent, Marysville, and Robert Perry, Vickery, have been appointed members of the Junior Fair Board representing Ohio 4-H clubs.

The two were recommended by W. H. Palmer to B. P. Sandies, Columbus, manager of the Junior Fair. Their duties will include helping plan the arrangement of thousands of exhibits so they will appear to the best advantage to visitors, as well as to check compliance by Junior Fair exhibitors with rules and regulations.

Wanetta Kent has been a club member seven years. She completed two projects each year except the first. Her work has included flower gardening, making clothing, and the study and preparation of foods. She represented Union county in the 4-H style revue at the State Fair in 1936.

Robert Perry had to do considerable missionary work before he could get a group to enroll in club work in his community, but he has been a member seven years. He has grown cabbage, corn and sugar beets and has been a member of the pig and dairy calf clubs during that time. He has been a member of livestock judging teams two years.

Club work did not occupy all the time of the two new board members. Wanetta Kent was an officer of her high school class, a member of the glee club, and a member of the Girl Reserves. Robert Perry played basketball four years in high school and also played speed ball and soccer.

JOHN RUSH DIES IN LAURELVILLE AFTER ILLNESS

John Rush, 52, died at his home in Laurelville, Saturday night following a long illness of paralysis. The only immediate relative surviving is his mother, Mrs. Emma C. Rush.

Funeral services will be held in the home Tuesday at 2 p. m. with burial in Green Summit cemetery in charge of H. E. Defenbaugh & Son. Friends may call at the home until noon Tuesday. The services will be private.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester McDaniels of Nelsonville were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Jinks of South Main street.

Shrinks in Size

BELIEVED TO BE suffering from Strumpel-Marie's disease, which causes its victims to shrink in stature, Senator Horace W. Baggett, of Santa Clara, Cal., has shrunk five and one-half inches in height and lost 26 pounds in eight years. Vienna was 5 feet 4 inches tall. Now he is 4 feet 10 1/2 inches tall. Cause of the disease is believed to be due to hereditary factors.

FOUR NEW OHIO BOARDS FORMED BY LEGISLATORS

COLUMBUS, May 3—(UP)—Four new state commissions created by the 92nd general assembly today were equipped to begin work.

Appointees to the commissions were announced by Sen. Keith Lawrence prior to adjournment. The commissions and members are:

To study probabilities of rehabilitation of visual and physically handicapped—Senators E. Matthews Steele, D., Clinton; William J. Zoul, D., Cuyahoga and Tom W. Jones, R., Meigs.

To determine the advisability of Ohio's participation in the New York World's Fair—Senators W. F. Garver, D., Holmes; H. D. Byrne, D., Portage; Keith Lawrence, D., Cuyahoga; Lawrence A. Kane, R., Hamilton and Fred L. Adams, R., Wood.

To study tax delinquency—Senators Bernard J. McCluskey, D., Cuyahoga; Don R. Thomas, D., Montgomery and Verner E. Metcalf, R., Washington.

To continue study of recodification of conservancy districts, Metropolitan park districts and sanitary and canal districts—Sen. Emerson Campbell, D., Belmont.

ROGERS RESCUES CONNIE BOSWELL FROM BED AFIRE

LOS ANGELES, May 3—(UP)—Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Connie Boswell, the crippled stage and radio singer who performs from a wheel chair, continued their stage act without interruption last night, a few minutes after he rescued her from a burning bed.

Between acts at the Paramount theatre Miss Boswell had been wheeled to her dressing room so that she could take a nap. She was placed on a cot and left alone. Apparently, someone dropped a lighted cigarette on the cot.

In a few minutes, Miss Boswell awoke to find the bed clothing afire. She was unable to rise without assistance. Her screams brought actors and stage hands racing to the room. Rogers was first to arrive. He snatched up the sheet and stamped out the fire. Miss Boswell was not burned, but was unnerved by the shock. She had been partially crippled and was confined to a wheel chair after a paralytic stroke recently. Rogers denied he had made any heroic gesture. "It didn't amount to anything," he said.

TWO MEN ARRESTED

Two men were arrested Saturday night on drunkenness charges. They were James E. Dearth, and Mose Vance. Both posted $5 bonds to report later before Mayor W. J. Graham.

DAVEY TO CALL EXTRA SESSION

Action Necessary After Appropriations Bill is Turned Down

COLUMBUS, May 3—(UP)—The crushing defeat of the administration's compromise appropriations bill confronted Gov. Martin L. Davey today with the necessity of calling a special session of the legislature within the next two months.

The governor could not be reached for comment, but it was understood he would issue a statement sometime today.

Rejection of the bill, worked out by a joint conference committee came shortly before adjournment early yesterday and after more than two days' deliberation, was regarded as a smashing victory for the senate no-new-taxes bloc led by Sen. Horace W. Baggett, D., Montgomery, youthful first term Dayton attorney.

It was believed to be the first time in Ohio legislative history that a general assembly has quit work, without passing a budget bill providing funds for state operation in 1937 and 1938. Vote on the measure was 9 to 24 with even Sen. Emerson Campbell, D., Belmont, chairman of the important senate finance committee and normally one of the administration's staunchest supporters voting against it.

The governor must call the special session sometime before June 30, when the partial appropriations bill expires. Technically, the legislature could return on May 10, date for sine die or "final" adjournment, and attempt to pass a budget measure but leaders of both houses saw little possibility in this being done.

CHURCH TO PLANT TREES

Seventy-five elm and maple trees will be planted on the Mount of Praise camp grounds next Thursday, Rev. O. L. Ferguson, pastor of the Church of Christ in Christian Union and superintendent of the grounds, announced.

APPLICATIONS TAKEN

Mayor W. J. Graham is receiving applications at his office in the city building for garden plots this summer. The Circleville Industrial Co. recently granted the mayor permission to use the company's land in the south end of the city for gardens.

The latest guess is that there are about 9,000,000 unemployed, but as this is merely the total of those who are willing to eat off the government it is as poor a guess as any.

EARL BENNETT INDICTED

Earl Bennett, Washington C. H., recently arrested in Circleville for Washington authorities, has been indicted by the Fayette county grand jury on a charge of operating an auto without the owner's consent.

Princess Juliana, of Holland, lost 20 pounds on her honeymoon, which may start a fad of marrying to reduce among the fat girls.

Jackson Township Play Scheduled Wednesday

The senior class of Jackson Township high school will present a three act comedy "Winners All" on Wednesday evening, May 3, at 8 o'clock.

The story takes place at a boarding house in New York City. It is the story of two young men who are trying to make a success as writers. A wealthy young lady enters into the life of one of the young men, and it is through influence that they make good.

The cast of characters includes Warren Halstead, played by Eugene Keller, a coming author; Lewis Raymond, Fred Hulse, another author; Billy, a newspaper boy; Paul Anderson; Merrill Ogden, an arrived author; William Thomas; Hannon Clark, a financier; Paul Thompson; Mrs. Clark, his wife; Mary Bungamer; Pa. Waldorf, the landlord; Harold Hoover; Mrs. Waldorf, his better half; Wilma Dewey; Molly, a servant; Louise Fischer; Gretchen Gabbo, an actress; Geneva Bidwell; Gladys Francis, who is going into business; Virginia Walters; Donna Winters, who decides to go along; Betty Thompson.

The play is being directed by Miss Dorothy Beckett.

ANGERED INDIAN KILLS WIFE, TWO OTHERS, HIMSELF

FRESNO, Calif., May 3—(UP)—Enraged because his wife left him, Walker Davis, 30, an Indian, followed her to her parents' home last night, killed her, then killed her mother and father and himself.

Deputy Sheriff Orin King, claimed that Davis had quarreled with his wife, Catherine, 20, also an Indian, at their home in Sanger. She fled to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Curtis, in Squaw valley. He followed, continuing the argument, and after a short struggle, shot and killed her.

Mrs. Curtis and a younger daughter were shot as they tried to leave the house, and Curtis was killed when he sought to restrain Davis. The younger daughter was wounded.

The tests were made with Clarage corn at Wooster.

Dairy cattle and sheep prefer grass from 2 to 3 inches tall. Grass which is 6 or 7 inches tall is not grazed by them unless forage shortage compels its selection. Beef cattle will graze and thrive better on the taller grass than the first two classes of livestock.

The importance of livestock in Ohio agriculture was graphically shown by farm account records on 65 Wayne county farms in 1935. In come from livestock and livestock products on these farms average $2,038 that year but income from the sale of crops and all other sources average only $679 per farm.

ENFORCE TRAFFIC LAWS

GRIM and disheartening is the record showing traffic deaths in eighty-five representative cities between December 26 and April 10 were up 33 percent over the corresponding period a year ago. The rate of increase is much larger than the monthly average thus far in 1937 for the country at large. From this the inference is inescapable that not more four-paneled highways in the open country but better control over city streets is the more vital problem.

The point is emphasized by the results of a survey just completed by North-western University's Traffic Safety Institute. That survey establishes a definite relationship between law enforcement and automobile accidents. Taking the ratio between convictions for violations of driving laws and the number of personal injury accidents as the basis of an enforcement index, the institute studied comparative records for 1935 and 1936 of seventy-eight cities. The tabulation based on this system showed that where the enforcement index was high, the traffic death rate was low, and, inversely, where the enforcement index was low the death rate was high.

Here is the probable explanation for the wide discrepancies, percentage wise, between cities in different sections. That some should have succeeded in a year's time in substantially reducing traffic deaths while others had startling increases would be, otherwise, inexplicable. Generally speaking it is fair assumption that in those cities where the death rate has doubled or more in a year, there has been a let-down against driving law violators.

As the institute intimates, we have, perhaps, been putting too much dependence upon moral suasion. Its own conclusion is that "enforcement will bring about reductions in accidents more quickly than either education or engineering." The record supports that conclusion.

SPELLING AND INTELLIGENCE

DR. J. DUNCAN SPAETH, president of the University of Kansas City and former Princeton professor, is authority for the somewhat startling statement that poor spelling is sometimes a sign of intelligence.

It seems that at least a few of the world's outstanding statesmen have been poor spellers, that a star reporter of a metropolitan newspaper once wrote the same word four different ways and that leading authors are frequently guilty of shocking errors.

Maybe Dr. Spaeth was merely spoofing, despite this array of evidence. Average intelligence, particularly that which has been subjected to some formal schooling, would apparently imply at least a fair grasp of the spelling art.

Still, we have the word of a personnel expert in one of America's major industries

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Spurned the bed at an early hour, for outdoors the sun was shining and already too much life had been wasted in sleep. What a grand and glorious season is Spring. Breakfast and then out and about the paves, bowing in fine friendliness to one and all and finding only happy faces among the early risers. Vowed to join the clan for all time, but know I will not keep the pledge. However, the idea is a pleasant one.

Wonder why someone who is seeking ways and means of picking up a few extra dollars does not visit the Yellowbud pond vicinity. The woods there are filled with millions of violets—the great long-stemmed variety—that would sell easily to almost any housewife at ten to twenty cents a bunch.

Met Meeker and Lady Terwilliger sitting in their car and admiring red-blossomed trees about the villa. Nothing was said about the branches in my hair nor about what I believe was Meeker's firm intention of obtaining a few sprays as soon as I drove away. Here they come and there they go, the Sunday outing parties. A fine idea, getting into the open this kind of weather.

Wonder whether the Cincinnati Reds intend going through the season with only one victory? Had strong hopes for that scrapping band of youngsters, but am beginning to lose faith. There goes Carl Hunter and here comes Clarence Wolf. Met Ned Groom, the mighty mushroom hunter, and learned that when he could get away mushrooms were not sprouting and that when he was tied to his work that the "damned things popped all over the county." There goes Ted Lewis, the world famed musician, home for the week-end. Chatted with George Foerster enjoying the sunshine in the yard at his home and not feeling quite up to par. Noted the exodus of golfers toward the Country Club, but felt no pang of jealousy for not yet has the 1937 bug attacked me.

A promise of more rain and, strange as it may seem, more moisture will be welcomed in the plains country. However, never did see farm lands looking better than ours do now.

What fine improvements are those sidewalk repairs about the villa. Certainly they were sorely needed in some spots and in others still are. Our sidewalks, generally, are nothing to brag about.

There goes Frank Fisher, chief of our local educators, who is making a serious effort to find employment for competent and ambitious members of the high school's senior class. A praiseworthy undertaking, Frank, and one in which too few educators are interested. For the most part, they regard their task completed when a boy receives his sheepskin. As a matter of actual fact, most of our boys and girls would be much better citizens if they were required to return to school for a week each year after graduation and report honestly on personal progress in employment or efforts made to find and keep employment. Strange would be the tales of some graduates of recent years.

FDR WOULD TRADE WAR DEBTS

WASHINGTON—Apropos of the back-handed British suggestion of paying war debts, the President was talking over the European situation with a foreign affairs expert the other day, and made the significant remark that the last thing he wanted to discuss with European nations was war debts.

He indicated that he would much rather keep war debts on the shelf, whence he could take them down as a possible gesture of American good will if Europe was able to get together on disarmament.

In other words, if Europe would make a new pledge to avoid the next war, Roosevelt would throw away the financial memories of the last.

NOTE—European diplomats, informed of this plan, point out that Europe long ago has forgotten about war debts, that Roosevelt's gesture would be next to empty.

PARTY WHIPPING

It is generally supposed that each party has only one floor leader, but the management of the present unwieldy Democratic majority required the efforts not only of Majority Whip Patrick J. Boland, but also of Chief Assistant Whip John F. Dockweiler, plus 15 lesser Assistant Whips.

The Whip has an office in the Capitol, just above Statuary Hall, where the Big Whip and the 16 Little Whips gather around an oval table and plan the execution of party policy.

Each assistant has a district or zone, and when the policy is determined, he is responsible for securing the attendance of the party members in his zone, and whipping them into line. The heaviest job falls to Assistant Whip William F. Sutphin, who must corral all 27 of Pennsylvania's Democrats plus the 7 New Jersey members. Lightest job falls to Assistant Whip William M. Citron, who covers all New England, and has only 13 Democrats in his fold.

It is the business of the Whips to sound out sentiment and report their findings to the leaders. If it appears that certain members are reticent, or openly opposed to a given proposition, it is the duty of the Whip to make them conform to party orders. He must be adroit and actul, must cultivate a personal knowledge of each man in his group, must understand his ambitions and his convictions.

When pacific methods fail, he is supposed to apply the last of the party whip.

NOTE—The office of Whip is derived from the British Parliament.

UNHOLY ALLIANCE

One of the two most unusual lobbying combinations seen on Capitol Hill in many moons is the unique alliance between the big sugar refiners and the beet sugar companies, now nicknamed "The Unholy Alliance."

For years the two groups have been bitter enemies. The big refiners import their sugar in the raw from Cuba. The beet growers grow their sugar in the Middle West, refine it themselves in the beet areas. So the economic interests of the two clash all along the line.

to the effect that high school graduates are notoriously lax in this fundamental respect. And certainly high school graduates cannot be put down as representatives of the moronic stratum.

Mandelic Acid Helpful in Kidney Infections

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

AMONG NEWER remedies recently tested out by the medical profession, the use of mandelic acid in kidney infections appears to be quite successful.

Its discovery came about in a somewhat peculiar way. A few years ago it was shown that a high fat diet which produced certain organic acids in the system was beneficial for epilepsy and certain other conditions. It was noticed in clinics where it was extensively used, that if a mild kidney infection was present, the release of the acids in the kidneys tended to clear up these infections. Since the high fat diet is not healthy for a normal person, a search was made for acids which would perform the same function. The desire was to find an organic acid which could be administered by mouth and excreted intact in the urine, and also that it should kill off bacteria. In the course of this search mandelic acid was found to have these qualities. It kills off bacteria in the urine in about 80 per cent of uncomplicated cases.

By uncomplicated cases we mean those in which there is no considerable destruction of kidney tissue, or abscess formation. Mild infections of this kind are particularly common in children, particularly infection by the germ which ordinarily lives in the large bowel.

We have a large number of drugs which are able to kill off these germs in ordinary cases. Among the first of these to be used was urotropine. Another one, and much the best until mandelic acid came along, was pyridium. To this group mandelic acid is a welcome addition.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

J. H. S.: "Has there been any advance in the research work on the association between aluminum and cancer?"

Answer: There has been no advance because there has never been any research work done on the subject. The idea never had the slightest shadow of scientific support. That aluminum is perfectly harmless is indicated by the fact that aluminum is more and more supplanting other metals in dental work as a substitute due to the present scarcity of gold. It hardly is possible that dentists would agree to put into the mouth a substance which they thought would cause cancer.

Poems That Live

THE RIVER OF LIFE
The more we live, more brief appear
Our life's succeeding stages:
A day to childhood seems a year.
And years like passing ages.

The gladness current of our youth,
Ere passion yet disorders,
Steals, lingering like a river
Along its grassy borders.

But as the careworn cheek grows wan,
And sorrow's shafts fly thicker,
Ye Stars, that measure life to man,
Why seem your courses quicker?

When joys have lost their bloom
And breath,
And life itself is vapid,
Why, as we reach the Falls of Death,
Feel we its tide more rapid?

It may be strange—yet who would change
Time's course to slower speeding.
When one by one our friends have gone
And left our bosom's bleeding
Heaven gives our years of fading strength—
Indemnifying fleetness:
And those of youth, a seeming length,
Proportioned to their sweetness.

CHAPTER 40

STILL NOT knowing where she could be, Jacqueline thrust a foot over the side, feeling for the floor, but found nothing. Then she turned so that she lay face downward on the mattress, gripping the edge of the ledge, and gently lowered herself. It seemed an immense distance, but eventually the toe of her shoe touched something solid. The next moment she was standing on her feet, her hands still gripping the ledge that was now level with her eyes.

She stood very still, listening intently, not daring to move. If only she had a light! If only there were a faint glimmer somewhere to give her some sort of guidance!

Then suddenly she thrust her hand into her pocket and gave a little gasp of satisfaction as her fingers located her cigarette lighter. She took it out and snapped it open, rubbing the wheel with her thumb. There came a flash from the flint, but the wick was dry and refused to light, and though the flint sparked a dozen times in rapid succession, the wick refused to light. She held the lighter above her head, stared into the darkness and thumbed the wheel again. In the faint light of the spark she caught a glimpse of what seemed to be a door, and, with her hand outstretched in front of her, she went cautiously in that direction, flashing her lighter as she went.

Her hand found the door, groped round the handle and turned it. Very gently she pulled and found that the door gave. She opened it a few inches and peered out. A gust of wind met her, and, glancing up, she saw the deep blue of the sky, with a sprinkling of stars.

She stepped out through the door, made out the dim outline of a flight of steps on her left, and moved cautiously toward it. There was an iron handrail beside the steps, and she gripped it and placed her foot on the first step, she paused suddenly and caught her breath.

On the top of the steps, silhouetted against the sky, a figure was seated. As Jacqueline moved, the beam of a flashlight stabbed the darkness, shining full on her face and dazzling her.

"So you've come to, dearie," she said. "I was a voice. It was a woman's voice, and I was here, with a sudden rush of relief. 'And where will you be going now, dearie?' asked the voice."

Jacqueline blinked into the dazzling beam of the torch, trying to catch a glimpse of the speaker.

"Who are you?" she asked.

"Who am I? Joplin's my name, dearie—Mrs. Joplin. Pleased to meet you, I'm sure."

"But I—I don't know you. I've never seen you," exclaimed the girl.

"Pleased to meet you, all the same," said Mrs. Joplin amiably. "And as for seeing me—well, have a look at me now, dearie, an' get it over quick." She turned the flashlight upon herself.

Mrs. Joplin's face, revealed by the beam of light, was not a beautiful face. It was heavy and fleshy, with small, beady eyes beneath an untidy mass of greasy black hair, and with a mouth whose size, to say nothing of the distinct suggestion of a mustache on the upper lip, must have deterred Mrs. Joplin, had her thoughts turned in that direction, from entering her name in any beauty competition. Jacqueline could not see the body to which the face was attached, but she got the impression that it must be a short, thick-set body, with ample bosom, broad hips, and arms and legs fashioned more for service than for aesthetic effect. At the moment, the face was puffed into a smile, and though the result of the pleating was the exposure of a particularly unattractive set of discolored teeth, the smile seemed to Jacqueline to be a not unfriendly one.

"There you are, dearie—that's me," said Mrs. Joplin. "Not the sort of face as shows up well with floodlighting, but if you'd spend 20 years with my old man you wouldn't be looking so fresh yourself." Her smile vanished. "Take my advice, dearie," she said, "and don't you go getting married to hurt yer. It's wearing. My old man . . ."

"Where am I?" Jacqueline interrupted.

Mrs. Joplin turned the beam of the torch on Jacqueline's face again.

"Don't you go worrying your head about that, dearie," she said. "It don't make no difference to you where you are. You're here, with old Ma Joplin, an' there's no call to be scared. Real scared you're looking, an' the best thing you can do is to 'ave a nice 'ot cup of tea an' a bit of a rest."

"But I can't stay," exclaimed the girl. "I don't know where I am or how I got here, but I must get away at once."

She stepped forward and began to ascend the steps. But she had gone up only three of them when a large black object suddenly rose in front of her, barring her way, and she paused abruptly. Her hand shot out to ward off the object from her face. As she touched it she realized that it was Mrs. Joplin's foot and that it was built on the same massive scale as the rest of her.

"Just you stay where you are, dearie," said Mrs. Joplin. "Just you go back, and I'll come down and light the lamp for you and see you nice and comfortable."

"But I've no time . . ."

"Plenty of time, my dear," Mrs. Joplin assured her. "Several days, probably, the gentleman said, and if it's six months I'm not to let you go until 'e gives the word. There's my instructions, so if you've a date with some nice young feller, he'll be disappointed this evening."

Suddenly Jacqueline grasped the foot, thrust it aside and stepped quickly up two more steps. And then there loomed out of the darkness a hand no less massive than the foot, which was placed against her chest. It was placed there quite gently but firmly, and Jacqueline got the impression that, no matter what efforts she might make, that hand would remain fixed and immovable, resisting an her puny attempts to force it aside.

Mrs. Joplin's face was not a beautiful face

"Now we don't want no unpleasantness, dearie," said Mrs. Joplin. "There's no kind of need for it. You just be sensible an' do as I say, an' nobody's going to hurt yer. But you mustn't try none o' them tricks, because I've got me duty to do, an' when I start doin' me duty somebody usually gets hurt. I'm no beauty to look at, dearie, but if it's a case of a rough an' tumble—well, ask my Alf. Fourteen stone 'e weighs, but 'e's never 'ad the best of it yet, an' he'll be the first to admit it."

"If you think you can keep me here against my will . . ."

Jacqueline cut her short with a wave of her massive hand.

"I can, dearie. I could keep a dozen like you 'ere against their will if I gave my mind to it. But we don't want no violence. Peace an' 'armony's my motter, an' when my Alf gets rampageous I never 'it 'im 'arder than I 'ave to."

"She got up, laid her hand on Jacqueline's shoulder and urged her down the stairs.

"Go along now, dearie, before I 'ave to speak sharp to yer."

So, under the guidance of Mrs. Joplin's massive hand, she went down the stairs and back into the room from which she had groped her way. Mrs. Joplin followed her, closed the door behind her, struck a match, and lighted an oil lamp that hung from a beam above her head. Jacqueline glanced hastily around, and saw a small table, a couple of chairs, a shabby strip of carpet on the floor, and a small oil stove. On the wall in the corner were two bunks, one above the other, and she realized that it was in the top bunk that she had been lying when she had returned to consciousness.

She turned suddenly to Mrs. Joplin.

"Where am I going?" she demanded.

"Going? You're going nowhere, dearie. You're staying here."

"But I'm on board a boat."

"Maybe you are, my dear, but it don't follow as you're going anywhere. This 'ere boat's hardly the boat to take a cruise in. It's what you'd call a barge, dearie, knowing no better."

JUDGING BY the number of battle victories reported by both sides in the Spanish struggles, modern generals can crowd more action into 10 months than took place in the Hundred Years war.

Baseball managers should be interested in signing up some of these generals. According to their press agents they never come up to bat without scoring something or other, including "moral" victories.

The above is especially true of General Franco, who recently made a dandy home run—in the general direction away from Madrid.

The Spanish war press agents do a dandy job of it. We almost believe them. The one hitch is that both claim victory in the same edition and on the same front page.

A little system might be injected. Let the rebels win their battles exclusively in the morning newspapers while the loyalists do

Mrs. C. H. May Honors Ruth Jernigan at Tea

200 Call at Home
Saturday From
2 to 6

Complicating Miss Ruth Jernigan, who married her son, David, in Charleston, W. Va., Monday, Mrs. Charles H. May entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock at her home, S. Court street. Miss Jernigan, of Pratt, W. Va., was a guest at the May home over the week-end.

Receiving with Mrs. May and the honor guest were Mrs. Oliver Hosterman, of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Robert Workman, of Columbus, Mrs. Fred Heath, of Muncie, Ind., and Mrs. Kendall May, of Midland, Mich.

The spacious rooms of the lovely home were never more attractive than Saturday, the large bouquets of deep red Better Times roses adding a colorful note to the front living room and library. Baskets of purple lilacs were also used in the rooms. In sharp contrast, the back living room was decorated in white double Marguerites and double feverfew in black pottery vases.

Tea was served in the dining room, by candlelight. The table bearing a silver coffee service at one end and tea service at the other, was divided by a row of tall white tapers in silver holders, with a silver vase of red roses near one end. Baskets of white lilacs and apple blossoms were on side tables.

Miss Bertha Bowers, Mrs. Alice Hostler, Mrs. Charles Groce and Mrs. Fred Heath poured during the first interval of the tea, being replaced by Mrs. Frank Bennett and Mrs. R. R. Bales for the second. Mrs. George Banning, of Columbus, and Mrs. Howard White, of Cincinnati, were at the table the last hour.

Assisting hostesses for the afternoon were Miss Sadie Brunner, Miss Mary Foreman, Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Arthur Miller, Mrs. Hulise Hays, Miss Alice A. May, Mrs. Ray Davis, Mrs. Robert Smith, of Circleville, Mrs. John H. Dunlap Jr. and Mrs. William Radcliff, of Williamsport.

About 200 persons called at the May home during the afternoon.

MELODIST, MEMORIAL VICTOR, SHIPPED TO CHURCHILL DOWNS FOR DERBY.

POMPOON ODDS GO TO 10 TO 1 AFTER SHOWING

Fitzsimmons in Charge of "Nervous Shipper" on Kentucky Trek

WAR ADMIRAL FAVORITE

Riddle Colt Speeds Mile in Time of 1:40

NEW YORK, May 3.—(UP)—Melodist, the Wheatley stable colt that earned a starting berth in the Kentucky derby by galloping home first in the Wood Memorial Saturday, will be shipped tonight to Churchill Downs.

The Royal Minstrel colt's surprise win over Jerry Loucheim's winter book favorite, Pompoon, and four other probable derby starters in the $20,000 mile and 70-yard Jamaica feature, pumped up the odds on Pompoon from 3-1 to 10-1. Pompoon ran fifth.

Melodist, a "nervous shipper," will have a special car to Louisville accompanied only by his trainer, "Sunny" Jim Fitzsimmons, a groom and two exercise boys. Because of Melodist's fretful disposition, it was debated whether to send the horse to Kentucky. Fitzsimmons convinced owners Ogden Mills and Mrs. H. C. Phipps that Melodist deserved a shot at the greatest honor for three year olds.

Four Others Shipped
Four other derby candidates that trailed Melodist in the Wood—Marshall Field's Sir Damion, Walter Carter's Clodion, Pompoon and Miss E. G. Rand's Merry-maker—were shipped in one car yesterday. They ran second, fourth, fifth and sixth respectively on Saturday.

Danny Clarke, trainer of Pompoon, does not believe his colt's showing in the Wood has any bearing on his derby chances. "That race don't mean a thing," Clarke said. "Pompoon showed plenty of stamina and if he hadn't been knocked off stride, it would have been different. He was running easily at the finish, and will show he can go the distance down at Churchill next Saturday."

Latest news from the scene of the 63rd running of the $50,000 classic, was that trainers of eligibles were heartened by Pompoon's defeat and that as many as 18 colts would parade to the post next Saturday.

War Admiral, the Samuel D. Riddle colt, was a lone favorite at 3-1, but the Three D Stock farm's hee-fly man looked bad by breezing a mile in 1:40 yesterday. War Admiral was on the track at the same time and although breaking a furlong behind, the Texas horse overtook and passed the Riddle colt at the second turn. War Admiral was clocked in 1:55 1-5 for a mile and a furlong.

Brooklyn Out
The poor showing of E. R. Bradley's Brooklyn in his last two starts has cost him a starting role. The bay son of Blue Larkspur finished behind Bradley's Billionaire in his last two starts. Brooklyn was left at Lexington to rest when Billionaire was sent to Louisville yesterday.

Tony Looks As If He's Burned Up

A. B. C. EVENTS NEAR CLOSE ON GOTHAM ALLEYS

NEW YORK, May 3.—(UP)—After 56 continuous nights of bowling the five-man team event of the American Bowling Congress tournament ends tonight.

A full schedule, composed of New York and New Jersey teams, is not expected to disturb the leaders.

The final curtain of the tournament will not drop until tomorrow afternoon, however, when the two-man teams and individual bowlers finish.

The week-end produced no changes in the top-notchers. Of the 55 teams that bowled last night only 11 finished in the money range and only two were above average scores. They were a 2,855 by the Ridgewoods of Long Island City, N. Y., and a 2,837 by Empire Seniors of Brooklyn.

Stephen Keenan of Elizabeth, N. J., was the only one to come close to ousting a leader in the singles. He turned in a 701 to tie Earle Shepherd of Kansas City for 11th place. The best two-man total was 1,244, chalked up by Fred Dahn and Lansing Ackert of Foughkeepsie, N. Y.

Charles Drensen, the fiery little manager of the Cincinnati Reds, today was determined to play the string out in the belief the Pittsburgh Pirates are "suckers" for southpaws.

With the bulk of the Pirates great power concentrated in left-handed batters, rival national league managers have attempted to "southpaw" the club into submission. Drensen has been one of leaders in the movement this season and even though Pittsburgh has beaten his portside hurlers for four times in a row he was going to send another against them today in the final contest of the series.

The Pirates made the most of their opportunities here yesterday to defeat the Reds 7 to 2 and thereby vault into the league lead.

Al Hollingsworth was to be Drensen's mound choice today. Either Cy Blanton or Bill Swift was to oppose him.

A film star who left the screen at 3 is planning a comeback at 5, but these old-timers rarely make it.

WASHINGTON C. H. WINS
Although a score was not kept (at least not reported) by high school authorities, Washington C. H.'s baseball team defeated the Red and Black Saturday afternoon, by about 25 to 4.

YESTERDAY'S HERO: Gerry Walker, the boy who used to do everything wrong, did everything right to put the Tigers in the American league lead.

GAME CALLED AT 6:30

League To Be Operated With Six Entries

The battery company of the Ohio National Guard and the Yellowbud team will pry the lid off the softball league race this evening on the Southern Ohio Electric Co. field. The game is called at 6:30 o'clock with Charlie Scott as the umpire-in-chief.

The battery outfit is being led by Doc Ferguson, while Derekson is the manager of the Yellowbud crew. He and Shaw are the Yellowbud pitchers. Warren Lutz, a newcomer to softball ranks, will be on the hill for the guard aggregation.

The lineups have not been announced. The league will function with only six teams since withdrawal of the Eagles, and Stoutsville's failure to put its guarantee. Members of the league are Container Corporation, Circleville Athletic Club, Sohio gasoline, Battery company, Yellowbud and Kingston.

About This And That In Many Sports

Support Necessary For Softball Loop

RAMBLING 'ROUND  The softball loop is scheduled to open tonight with the Army crew battling the Yellowbud nine. The game is called at 6:30 on the Southern Ohio Electric Co. field, providing rain does not interfere. Lovers of the softball game should be on hand to help support the league—Sunday was a big day at the Red Bird stadium. The high school band played, with Ted Lewis as its leader. About a dozen of Jack Landrum's Boy Scouts witnessed the ball game, band and scouts getting into the theatre free to see Ted and his boys. It was a successful day from all angles. The Pickaway county track meet is scheduled Friday at New Holland. The home team is the favorite, but it is certain to meet strong opposition from several schools. Atlanta tallied three points in the Ohio Wesleyan relay, held last Saturday. According to the tabulations, it was the only school from Pickaway county to place. Toledo Scott and Upper Arlington won again in class A and B, respectively. More trade rumors are in the air at Cincinnati, although none of the reported swaps has gone through to date. This time the Enquirer has Gene Scott, pitcher, going to the Pittsburghs for Woody Jensen, better-than-average outfielder. This young Bethel, who tosses them for Columbus North high school, will probably be offered plenty of chances in organized baseball. The southpaw has put all opposing batters right back on their haunches, allowing four hits in three games—Pompoon beaten, decisively, and Brooklyn reported not to run in the big Derby lets the gate open for a lot of different choices. What do you think of War Admiral and Reaping Reward?—This Tom Henrich case is a funny one. The Yankees pay him from $25,000 to $30,000 to sign with them, carry him along, and then ship him to the Newark Bear farm without ever playing an inning in a Yankee uniform

South's opening bid on this deal was 1-Spade which North raised to 2-Spades, and the bidding closed with South's 4-Spade bid.

The diamond K was the opening lead, followed by the diamond Ace and when the third diamond was led, declarer played the 8 from dummy, with the hope of setting up the J later for a discard of his singleton club. The diamond Q was ruffed by South with the spade 3. The declarer now realized that he had made a very bad play but it was too late to rectify it.

His next play was the spade A, which dropped the singleton K, but even this good fortune could not save the day, for he had to lose a heart and a club, in addition to the two diamond tricks.

Had South ruffed the third diamond lead with the spade 10, the setting up of the diamond J would have enabled him to make the contract, but the play of the 3 robbed him of an entry into the dummy.

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)
What is East's correct return after winning the first trick with the club K, against South's contract of 5-Diamonds?

Discussion to Follow 6:30 O'Clock Dinner With Smith Presiding

HEISTAND TO ATTEND

Intensive Campaign Planned Late This Month

James I. Smith, Jr. district chairman, will preside Tuesday evening when the Pickaway District Boy Scout committee gathers for a dinner meeting at the New American Hotel at 6:30. Smith urges all chairmen of local Scout troop committees to attend, as well as members-at-large of the district.

The meeting, which will follow immediately after the dinner, has been called for the purpose of laying plans for coming Scout activities in Circleville and Pickaway county, and reporting on the progress of the movement locally to date. Robert H. Heistand, scout executive of the Central Ohio Area Council, of which this district is a part, will be present to assist and advise the committee.

Discussion tomorrow evening will center about the approaching appeal for sustaining members for scouting here. Tentative plans call for an intensive campaign this month directed by local scouts in order to insure continuance of the scout program.

The Pickaway district committee is comprised of chairmen of each of the various troops in the district, or one of their committeemen when they cannot attend, and prominent local citizens designated as members-at-large.

EDITORS ELECT 215 LEPERS SHOT MANSFIELD MAN BY AUTHORITIES, NEW PRESIDENT CHINESE REPORT

COLUMBUS, May 3—(UP)—The Blue Pencil Club of Ohio elected Joseph E. Kuebler, city editor of the Mansfield News-Journal, as its president at the annual meeting here Sunday. He succeeds M. M. Carothers of the Columbus Dispatch.

John D. Zook, news editor of the Urbana Citizen, was elected vice president, and Norval Neil Luxon, of the Ohio State university journalism school, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The club, composed of newspaper editors and desk men, heard Philip W. Porter, news editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, discuss "New Trends in News Writing." He predicted several important changes in newspaper style and appearance within the next few years, including simplification of headlines and wider use of the "magazine" style of presenting news background.

NATIONAL DEBT CLIMBS TOWARD F. D. R.'S LIMIT

WASHINGTON, May 3—(UP)—The national debt soared steadily today toward the approximate limit of $35,026,000,000 proposed by President Roosevelt. It stood at $34,940,628,364 as the treasury completed the first 10 months of the 1937 fiscal year.

Within a fortnight, the projected peak likely will be surpassed as the treasury continues to borrow funds at the rate of $50,000,000 weekly to replenish its working balance.

The balance has been drawn down to $642,138,931 by heavy expenditures under the gold sterilization program.

The treasury's daily statement which showed the fiscal operations through April 30, issued today, revealed that with two months remaining of the fiscal year expenditures aggregated $6,246,182,893.45 compared with $5,967,997,515.76 last year.

Deems Taylor, the members of the quartet were: Metta Mae Hickman, Velma Calvert, Walter Shannon, and Hugh Lamb.

Monday night, April 26 a group of students entertained the Circleville Kiwanis club. In this group there were Virginia Peters, Dorothy Hoffman, Walter Shannon, Hugh Lamb, and Grace Hoffman. The first four of these comprised a quartet and sang a group of songs. Grace Hoffman played an accordion solo. Three girls sang a number. Walter Shannon sang two solos.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Spring concert of music classes which will be presented at the school house Friday evening, April 30, at 8:00 p. m. On the program will be: some songs by the grades. Girls and boys high school Glee clubs. The mixed quartet will present a number. There will be solos. The Junior and Senior orchestras will play. Several classes will present folk dances including "Highland Fling," "Irish Jig" and "English Dance."

Be sure to turn your radio dial to W. O. S. U. Columbus on Saturday, May 1, from 1:15 to 1:45 to hear the H. S. classes broadcast. School buses will leave the school house at 11:30.

215 LEPERS SHOT BY AUTHORITIES, CHINESE REPORT

SHANGHAI, May 3—(UP)—Chinese reports from Canton said today that authorities shot 215 lepers on April 25 after a futile attempt to drown them.

The lepers overpowered the crews of two boats who tried to sink the craft with the lepers aboard. The victims had been enticed onto the boats by promises of transportation to a new colony.

The executioners were reported to have allowed one bullet for each leper, and that many were tossed into lime-filled graves wounded but still alive.

DUPONT, RASCOB GO TO TRIAL IN FEDERAL COURT

NEW YORK, May 3—(UP)—The government began today its efforts to prove that Pierre S. Du Pont and John J. Rasco created fictitious losses in order to reduce their income taxes.

Dozens of financiers and others have been subpoenaed to appear at the hearing, including Alfred E. Smith. Today only Du Pont and Rasco were present at the proceedings, flanked by a battery of attorneys.

The government charged that through transactions involving more than $27,000,000 the financiers were able to report taxable income considerably under what they should have declared. Du Pont, the government contends, owes $617,516 on his 1932 tax and Rasco $1,026,340. Both have entered general denials.

One of the points stressed by the government is that despite the huge aggregate of the stock sales between Rasco and Du Pont, there was a difference of only $14.86 in the final reckoning.

LEIST TO MEET OHIO OFFICIALS

New Policy in Operation For Payment of Cost of Major Projects

A new financial angle was tossed into the Circleville disposal plant situation Monday with the announcement by Carl C. Leist, solicitor, that he would go to Columbus Tuesday to confer with state officials on a new policy being followed by P. W. A. on municipal projects.

The new policy was presented to city officials by L. A. Boulay, state administrator of P. W. A., in a letter to J. F. Mavis, director of public service.

The letter sent to Mr. Mavis, which explains the new policy, follows:

"You have on file with the federal emergency administration of public works an application for a grant on a 45-55 percent basis.

"As general economic conditions throughout the country have improved greatly and the need for the type of stimulation created through the construction of non-federal public works projects has diminished, a new policy is being followed in the consideration of applications for grants from states, counties, municipalities and other public bodies to aid in their construction.

"The practice of making grants equal to 45 percent of the cost of a project is being replaced in general by a procedure calling for payment to the grantee of the amount of wages paid to workers on the project certified for relief, and referred for such work by the United States Employment Service or agencies designated by it, plus 15 percent of such amount so paid by the Public Works Administration. In other words, the grant would amount to, and be limited to, 115 percent of the amount paid for wages to workers taken from the relief rolls and determined by audit to be so paid. Under the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1936, however, no grant can be earned in excess of 45 percent of the cost of the project, and the completion shall be substantially accomplished prior to July 1, 1938.

"While it is not possible to make a commitment that an allotment for any project can or will be made, this office asks that you advise us at once whether you would be willing and able to put the above named project under construction and complete it within the specified time, if the federal government would make a grant as above outlined.

"On this basis of making grants, it would be necessary that you be in a position to finance initially 100 percent of the cost of the project by the furnishing of cash or by sale of your securities to the federal government or others."

"If your securities are purchased by the federal government, they must be for 100 percent of the total cost of the project and the grant earned would be paid through the cancellation, as of date of purchase, of an appropriate amount of bonds. If your securities are to be sold to others than the federal government, the grant would be paid to you from time to time, at intervals not more frequent than thirty days, on the basis of audits made.

"For the time being the study of applications will be confined to those regarding which the applicant is willing to have consideration given on the basis herein outlined.

"If you are interested in having your application considered on the above basis, it will be necessary to furnish the information required."

A form for supplying information on the project accompanied the letter.

Cash income of $504,000,000 for February farm marketings was highest for that month since 1930.

Duke Joyful At News of Final Decree

and his country for "the woman I love" free to marry Mrs. Simpson. Immediately after the award of the decrees absolute, final papers were signed in testimony that Mrs. Simpson had been freed of her second husband.

Statisticians at once figured out that it was six months, five days, 19 hours and 54 minutes between the opening of the case for Mrs. Simpson's decree nisi and the award of the decree absolute. Of that time only 26 minutes was spent in actual court—25 minutes at Ipswich and less than one minute this morning, except for a hearing in March at which Francis Stephenson, a solicitors' clerk, withdrew an intervention he had made against the final decree.

Serenade Interrupted
Villagers of St. Wolfgang held a farewell serenade in the duke's honor on the lake last night. Standing on a balcony in his dinner clothes, the duke waved enthusiastically to the cheering villagers.

During the water-parade, there was a burst of flame from a hillside on the lake. It came from a great wooden swastika cross erected secretly by Austrian Nazis. It cast a bright glow on the lake. While the serenade continued police made off in search of the Nazis who had used the occasion to publicize their cause.

The duke made his decision to leave this afternoon only after his telephone talk with Mrs. Simpson. The newspaper men were summoned and they hastened to the duke's villa, "Appesbach House," stumbling over the bags and golf bags piled high at the doorway.

Capt. Walter D. C. Greenacre, appeared and said: "I have a statement to make in behalf of the duke. It is as follows: The duke of Windsor is leaving St. Wolfgang today. He will leave Salzburg by the Arlberg express this afternoon at 4:45 p. m. The train is bound for Paris.

Capt. Greenacre announced also that the duke would telegraph President Wilhelm Miklas to thank the Austrian government, police, postal officials and people of all classes for their kindness, "untiring hospitality and consideration shown him" during his stay in Austria.

The duke's first reaction to the news of the decree which Mrs. Simpson phoned him was to laugh joyfully into the telephone. As soon as the talk was ended he told Capt. Greenacre to summon the newspaper men to "receive some news."

A Scotland Yard man telephoned to the United Press correspondent, who acted as spokesman for the news men, and said: "Come at once. Inform the photographers they should come in half an hour to take pictures."

The duke was in a happy mood when he received the photographers. He laughed like a school boy and asked in German: "Where are all you fellows from?"

He pointed to one and said: "I know you; you took pictures of me the other day and thought I didn't know it."

The duke inquired whether the photographers had enjoyed their stay at St. Wolfgang, and whether they had climbed the Schafberg peak. They replied that they were too busy watching him.

The duke wore a gray lounge suit. He posed for the photographers on the villa terrace, overlooking the lake.

in lower Austria, with excursions to Italy and the Adriatic coast. Mayor Mercier, confident that his services will be asked, is all ready to officiate and make the customary speech after the ceremony.

"I have been planning to retire from politics," he told me. "So this will be the climax of my career. No other mayor of France has married a king in nearly two centuries."

Interviews Granted
I was received by Mrs. Simpson at the chateau here after arranging by letter for an interview. I found her wearing a new Paris creation just delivered—a Schiaparelli tailored black wool suit, fastened with a liver button, and a high necked white crepe blouse, printed with black knights and bishops of a chess set.

Se seemed quite happy in anticipation of the duke's arrival. Mrs. Simpson complained of several things—that her telephone wire had been "tapped" so that she dared exchange only banalities with the duke in their long distance talks; that people who did not know her had nicknamed her "Wally" and that it was falsely reported that the duke gave her emeralds he inherited from his grand mother, Queen Alexandra.

She said that she had never received them and therefore, had not returned them under pressure from the British government, and that moreover she never had seen them. As for the "Wally," I was told the duke never called her anything but "Wallis." She could not say what she called the duke. Those at the castle with her said that they never had heard her address the duke in their presence—before the abdication—as anything but "sir."

His intimates usually call him David. Nobody would admit they ever had heard her call him "boytoy" as she was reported to have done.

STEVENS AND RAMBO FACE POLICE CHARGES

Edgar Stevens, 22, First avenue, and Harold Rambo, 20, Clinton street, were in the city jail Monday facing charges of being intoxicated and disorderly.

Mayor W. J. Graham said the charges were filed by Ivan Kendall, E. Franklin street lunch room operator. They resulted from a disturbance in the restaurant Saturday night.

A charge of resisting an officer may be filed against Rambo as he is alleged to have fought with Patrolman Carl Radcliff when he was arrested Sunday night.

COMMISSION'S RULING OPPOSED IN PETITION

An appeal on a ruling of the Industrial Commission of Ohio was filed in common pleas court Monday by Martha Addington, widow, and Robert Addington, Jr., Columbus.

The petition says on Jan. 30, 1935, Robert Addington, husband and father of the plaintiffs, was employed by the Columbus Railway, Light & Power Co., at the Pickaway county plant. He was stricken by chlorine gas and died Feb. 2, 1935. The petition contends the commission denied the claim.
